COUNTY OFFICIALS PASS ORDINANCE

Commissioners Ask Sum of $685,976 for Year's Expenses

KENTON, Jan. 15.—A total of $685,976 is asked by the Board of Hardin County commissioners for disbursements in all Hardin county funds during the current year, according to the annual appropriation ordinance passed by the board.

This sum, according to the board, represents figures approximately $45,000 less than those of 1929. The decrease being due largely to a decrease asked for funds for the state road and bridge funds and for the sinking fund. For the state road and bridge funds a reduction of $25,000 is shown and for the sinking fund a reduction of $20,000.

The sum asked for roads and bridges is $217,550 while the sum asked for the bond retirement fund is $200,000. A total of $277,550 is asked to be transferred and appropriated from the general fund while it is estimated by the commissioners that $1,620 will be needed for the dog and kennel expense.

The sum of $25,000 is asked as estimated interest due on serial bonds, notes and certificates of indebtedness for 1930. Serial bonds to mature during the year will amount to $175,000, they say.

The resolution shows that a sum of $143,000 is asked for maintenance and repair of county roads for 1930. Of this amount $30,000 is asked for labor and materials and contract work; $15,000 for labor employed by direct order of commissioners; $80,000 for materials and $12,000 for other expenses.

Now road construction will amount to $11,200, estimate of commissioners show. The greater portion of this, or $10,000, is to be expended for labor and materials on contract work.

Marry-Go-Round

BY HELEN ROWLAND

The "Marry-Go-Round" is the art of getting a man to want to buy a marriage license and a platinum ring, when he only dropped in for a couple of kisses.

One of the strange but happy delusions, under which a woman still labors is that she can hold a man by "tying him to her."

No matter how breadable a woman's love may be, a man never doubts that he can "push it up, somehow," and make it stand a little more strain.

When a married man takes a little sentimental detour, he usually manages to leave a dotted line behind him, by which he may trace back home again, when the gas gives out.

If you want to get along with the honey, never look too closely at the back of a small boy's neck after he's "washed," it is at the back of a man's neck.

A man doesn't offer his love to a woman, any more—he merely leads it to her, like a library book, for a week or so, with the date of return clearly understood.

It is "middle-aged" when the love songs in musical comedies begin to seem a little bogus, and the love scenes between the dancing a little tiresome.

A married woman always clutches at a complement and carries it home and lays it before her husband, as if she were a child, as she would a vindication.

Domestic responsibilities lie on some men's shoulders as lightly as snowflakes and melt in the warmth of the first pretty woman's smile.

A woman is only as old as she looks to the man who loves her.

Tina Mellers Sparrow Her Best Beloved Pet

NEW YORK—Here just a little sparrow picked up in St. James Park in London with wings decorated and most of his feathers gone.

His name is Negrillo. But to Tina Mellers, sister of Raquel Mellers and herself a noted dancer, Negrillo is just about everything a pet can be.

The sparrow has shown such keen intelligence that he actually senses Spanish Moller's commands in Spanish. She will tell him to perch on her shoulder, nibble at nuts held in her hand, or take a drink from her hair or dress—and Negrillo understands and obeys.

In fact Negrillo is so fond of pins that it requires all of the dancer's coaxing to make him let go of his tiny little grip.

"Why my pet is so used to the theater that he dances and sings in time with the music," says the dancer. And his has certainly been varied and colorful for the little sparrow, since he was picked up nearly seven months ago in London.

He has already seen Paris and New York, and his wanderings are not yet finished.

Uniformity of acceleration and saving of wear on shoes are claimed for a new type automobile pedal with a roller instead of a flat button on top.

Time is money to a man who is working out a line.

Early Days of Famous People

ONE of the first things that Rosa Bonheur did in her young life—when she lived for a few years in the scene of her birth in Bordeaux, France—was to visit the place of her father for her career as a dressmaker. He was a drawing teacher, and from him, Rosa early learned the rudiments of that art. But when he undertook to lay the groundwork for dressmaking, he encountered resistance. Little Rosa did not fancy such work. She and other dreamers for herself. Her fancy ran about those that were to lead to a higher goal.

And Rosa was consistent in her stand for a different career. From her earliest days she showed an affection for animals—and that feeling for dumb creatures she carried with her to Paris, to which city the Bonheurs moved in 1829. Rosa's pets were legion. She studied whatever creatures were around her and, when she learned to draw, she practiced her art in picturing them. She loved them and came to understand them and that was the foundation of her work as a great animal painter.

Finally Rosa's father gave up hope of making a dressmaker of her, and became sympathetic with her in her ambitions for a career as a painter of animals. He saw the genius that was in her and realized that it called for his support. So Rosa was given a room in which to work at her pictures.

She was also permitted to house her pet animals. And it was soon a crowded place. Dogs, cats, a goat, tame squirrels, rabbits, canaries and finches were among its occupants.

But Rosa refused to accept the restrictions which her father's limited means imposed upon her. The opportunity to study her pets and dogs and horses that passed on the street, was only the beginning of the fulfillment of her dream. She yearned to study about animals and so the little girl set about finding the opportunity for this in her own way.

She frequented the markets where animals from the farms were to be seen. She journeyed, on week-end holidays, to the country and there spent hours in studying cows and horses in the fields. And then came the circus. There she saw and studied and photographed in her mind lions, leopards, tigers—in fact the whole menagerie—and made many remarkable sketches of such subjects.

And as Rosa Bonheur, the child, did more than merely express her longing, she methodically set about laying the foundations for the great work she was to do. The knowledge of animals that she lacked was supplied by her self-imposed study, and the opportunity for such study, she provided by her resourcefulness in observation.

It was said by those who knew her that as a girl she was characterized by a "clear mind and a good heart."

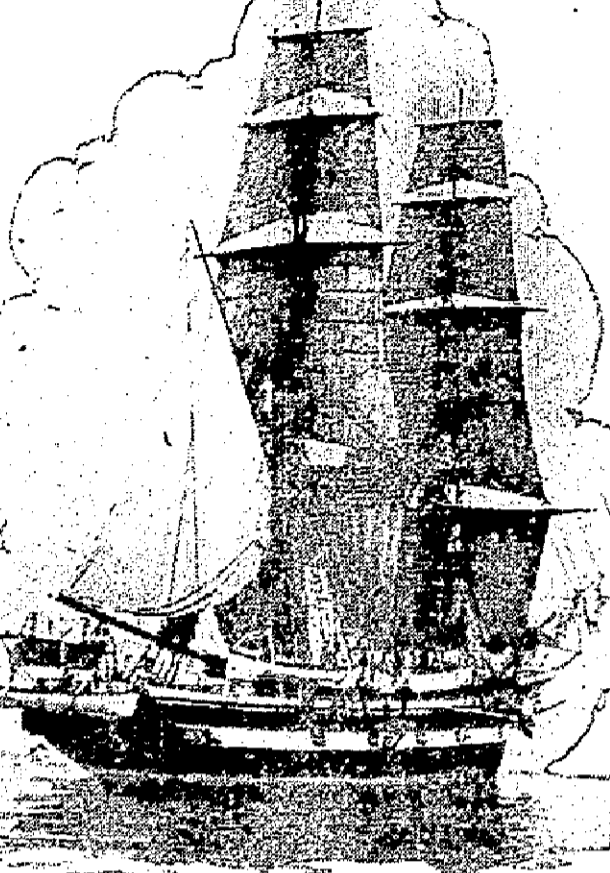

And these things—combined with kindness and understanding she possessed and pointed into her childhood pictures of animals. Her love for her subjects gave her work even in those early years, a notable realism. While Rosa was still a young girl her father provided her with some teaching by himself and with some instruction by the artist Cognat. At 14 she exhibited pictures in the Salon. But it was mostly by her own efforts that Rosa Bonheur attained the high place in art to which she aspired.

Rosa Bonheur—Destined by Her Father To Become a Dressmaker—Became a Great Painter

Rosa Bonheur was born in Bordeaux, France, March 16, 1822, and died in Fontainebleau May 25, 1899.

OLD IRONSIDES REPAIR FUND LOW

The frigate Constitution, familiarly known as "Old Ironsides," now in dry dock at the Boston Navy Yard, is again in distress. Funds collected from many sources to repair her are running low. Congress has been petitioned by Representative John J. Boylan, of New York, for $200,000 to complete the job.

1930 Baby Will Have Better Chance To Live

CHICAGO—The 1930 model of baby will have twice as many chances of surviving and growing up to be a healthy adult as his brother or sister of 1909.

This is the prediction of the American Research Foundation as the result of a survey of vital statistics and announced in a bulletin issued here.

"Fewer infants will die in the United States in 1930 compared to the number born than ever before in the present (trend) centuries," the bulletin declares. "Approximately 65 out of every 1,000 babies born at present die before reaching their first birthday. Fifteen years ago the average was 109 infant deaths for every 1,000 births and 50 years ago it was in excess of 130 per 1,000. So the 1930 baby has a 109 per cent greater chance of surviving than the 1909 baby, due largely to the advance of science and the cooperation of the medical profession."

Births in the United States in 1929 will exceed 1,900,000 in the registration area, based on previous averages.

Fireman Asks Damages for Injury in 1891

DETROIT—Detroit firemen in 1891 were not allowed to ride on fire department horses. Louis Born who was a member of the fire department from Sept. 29, 1890 to Jan. 12, 1891, learned of this recently. City council denied his petition for financial compensation for injuries he claims to have suffered when he fell from one of the horses just 20 years ago.

The council turned thumbs down on his request when the board of fire commissioners reported that in 1891 there was a regulation in force forbidding the fire fighters from riding on departmental horses.

Also, the board reported, the fire department records contain no account of Born's accident.

Most men would practice what they preach for others, but they get an opportunity to do anything but preach.

Similarity of Russia and U. S. is Seen by Writer

Both Countries Dreamers. Belonging to Future, Says Hunt; Soviet Cruel and Intolerant, Spy System Creating Terror

Editor's Note:—In this, the third of the series of six articles on conditions in Russia today, which Frazier Hunt, famous war correspondent and magazine writer has written especially for The Marion Star and other client newspapers of International News Service, Mr. Hunt makes some comparisons between Soviet Russia and the United States.

BY FRAZIER HUNT

Copyright, 1936, by I. N. S. LONDON, Jan. 15.—Russia today is in the midst of a new red revolution. It is more radical, more harder and vastly more unscrupulous than the revolution of the intellectual Lenin, Stalin and his colleagues who set in the Kremlin the example of the unscrupulous and wild of the most modern of Russia. Russia is red and doesn't know it—her Stalin and the Russian leaders, know it. Communism rests squarely on the expressed will and will of Russia.

The Russian revolution has established. It is a fact today that no longer a theory. No longer are there great personalities. The revolution itself has been mechanized—it is the hard-wired will of millions. Stalin, the one figure whose name is in common circulation—is only the puppet of Communism. It is "the party" that counts. Stalin could disappear tomorrow and the Soviet Union would roll on without a hitch. Gone are the great inspirers, the Lenins and Trozkys. It is the will, the spirit that counts today.

Cruel and Intolerant

Russia still is cruel and intolerant. Never has there been such a spy system, nor such an intensity of terror. Never has there been so little genuine personal freedom. Never has there been a government so centralized and autocratic. Never has life been harder and cruder. Religion is crushed and the home is in a constant state of terror.

There are the facts of Russia—the facts that keep the observer from seeing the Russian forest. But the great truth and the great forest of Russia are there.

And the great truth is that Russia is becoming almost like a young nation.

Her philosophy of communism is a new philosophy, a new ideal, with militant religion and her plans for men and women are everywhere out to win the world.

Almost 10 years ago when I was in Moscow she thought she could do it with her spies. Now she knows she must do it by ideas, she has today dreams of conquering the world, she is a real conqueror, not a spy.

And to do all this she turns to her greatest potential tool and enemy.

Countries Similar

No two countries in the world are so generally similar as America and Russia. They are comparable in size, in wealth of land and mines, rivers and forests; they are both democracies; they belong to the future of the new world. The good life for the common man is the deep and fundamental dream of both.

In one man's individual efforts are rewarded. Man is to be educated and store up the rewards of his personal effort and energy and use it for the benefit of his family and his country.

In the other all classes are different. The rewards are to be distributed; the state is to be a collector, and to distribute everything; every man is to be the equal and brother of every other man in the world.

And so it is that these two nations at once more closely similar and yet more distinctly separated, fight for the soul of the world.

U. S. Far, Far Ahead

At present, America is far, far ahead. She has caught the imagination of the whole world. She has developed a much better life for the common man than any nation at any time in history has done. She moves forward towards an unbelievable and unachievable position of efficiency at high speed.

Russia is in a modern car, on a muddy road, but she moves towards the motor car—the tractor—new ideas of modern mechanization—new ideas of state production and ownership—new plans of state distribution—new dreams of comfort and happiness.

Russia is learning and will continue to learn tremendous lessons of machinery and personal comforts and modern living from America. But America in turn will unconsciously take certain lessons from Russia—certain plans of state control, of production, of cooperation, of distribution.

COLD, SNOW TAKE LIVES IN CALIFORNIA

Two Missing Girls Being Sought in Mountains Back of San Bernardino

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 15.—A dry weather today had claimed two lives in California. Meanwhile, rescue parties in California and Nevada were pushing through heavy snows to aid many who are trapped in the mountains.

Two dead were reported from northern California. They were Jack Stone, a trapper, who was found dead from exposure near Redding. An unidentified man, believed to be a prospector, was found dead from exposure in a cabin near Redding.

E. J. Johnston, a home-owner, was found dead in his cabin, 90 miles from San Bernardino. Two missing girls are being sought in the mountains back of San Bernardino, while another rescue party is trying to reach a mother and daughter in the same region. They are reported to be seriously ill.

Marie Prevost, film actress, and five friends are beleaguered in the Tehachas. They are said to be short of rations.

With lines of communication down, many communities and people throughout the state have not been heard from for several days. High way traffic was still seriously affected by the snow fall.

CHARGES AGAINST HOPKINS INCOMPLETE

Council Committee Will Meet Again Tonight; Manager Plans to Travel

CLEVELAND, Jan. 15.—Finishing touches to the outer charges against William R. Hopkins, dismissed Cleveland city manager, are expected to be decided upon in a secret meeting of the city council "finishing squad" tonight.

Behind doors labeled "strictly private" and having even newspapermen, the committee appointed to prepare an "indictment" against Hopkins met for a brief hour yesterday afternoon but emerged without having completed the charges.

Hopkins, meanwhile, free from the duties of the public office he had held for six years, awaited the filing of the charges in order that he could map out his defense for a public hearing before council which probably will be held next Tuesday.

Condemnation of the city council and its outer action was hurried last night by Rabbi Barnett H. Brickner, ardent Hopkins supporter, who described the situation as comparable to the regime of Boss Tweed and his ring in New York.

Vagueness about the provision of the city charter granting a city manager a hearing upon his dismissal caused members of the council to call upon former Councilman A. H. Hoffman, author of the charter, at Northwestern university yesterday for interpretation.

Hoffman explained that the hearing was provided in order to give council sole power and responsibility for hiring and dismissing the manager without appeal to the courts. He stated that the clause that the manager must be given a hearing if demanded was included to prevent council from taking hasty action and also to put the council squarely on record giving it a chance to change its mind.

Hopkins, satisfied that his hearing will be little more than a mere formality, has announced that he will probably travel and do some writing on city governments in the near future.

Pending the nomination and selection of State Rep. Daniel E. Moran as Hopkins' successor, City Law Director Harold H. Burton has taken over the reins of the city government.

WILBUR OPENS DRIVE

CLEVELAND, Jan. 15.—Secretary of Interior Ray Lyman Wilbur will free the opening gun in a campaign for $2,500,000 to provide John Carroll university with a new group of buildings here tonight. The secretary will address a mass meeting of university workers and friends of the university at Public Music Hall on education.

RUN TOO MUCH

What English Author Decries of American Women

CHICAGO, Jan. 15.—American women have run about for a while in that they run around the world, according to John Galsworthy, English author and dramatist.

Speaking before the American club here, Galsworthy declared that the new type of woman, the modern woman, is a creature of the machine, of the motor car, and operating can never replace that quality.

President Roosevelt's principle of the "fourteen points" was well and good when America was in its pioneer days, but contemplation is needed now, the author maintained.

A STATEMENT OF OLDSMOBILE-VIKING POLICY for 1930

A message of interest to everyone who expects to buy a car this year.

AT THIS TIME, when the public is accustomed to look for changes in motor car design, it is only natural that Olds Motor Works should make an announcement concerning both its policy and its products for the coming year.

Olds Motor Works is pledged to a policy of progress—a policy that promises, in part . . . “Changes in design solely for the sake of progress—never for the sake of change alone.”

This policy, as it applies to the two products of Olds Motor Works, is briefly . . .

. . . to give still greater value in the Oldsmobile Six, the Fine Car of Low Price . . .

. . . to provide, in the Viking, a modern 90-degree, V-type Eight of high quality, at medium price.

Certain changes have been made in Oldsmobile design. These changes are chiefly in the body of the car, although advancements have also been made in the chassis. In every case, the changes tend to add to Oldsmobile value, without affecting the fundamental design of the car.

Naturally, no changes have been made in the great Viking Eight. The Viking is a new car—a thoroughly modern 90° V-eight, incorporating advancements in V-eight design that establish it as one of the outstanding engineering achievements of recent years.

Viking, as well as Oldsmobile, represents true progress in modern motoring. Viking, as well as Oldsmobile, is the splendid result of an ideal—an ideal that is exemplified by the four great responsibilities Olds Motor Works recognizes toward every Oldsmobile and Viking owner.

The first of these responsibilities is to design progressively, utilizing the full resources of the General Motors Research Laboratories, the Proving Ground, and Fisher Body, as well as its own broad facilities.

The second is to build faithfully . . . maintaining standards of quality and workmanship which are best expressed by the pledge every worker follows, “Anything short of my best is not acceptable.”

And not content merely with designing and building well, Olds Motor Works goes further, and pledges itself to sell honestly—representing its products, in every detail and to every buyer, exactly as they are . . . and, finally, to service sincerely—maintaining an interest in every sale far beyond the time of purchase, and joining with its dealers in carrying out the most equitable service policy in existence today.

While Olds Motor Works builds two cars, in two major price classes, each represents the most progressive engineering thought, the finest manufacturing practice, and the best value it is possible to give. Each is truly . . . a car for the American family that, at a moderate investment, gratifies their finer tastes as well as satisfies their every need.

Now is the time to see these cars and to compare them with the latest offerings of the automotive industry. Make your own examination.

COUNTY'S TAX VALUE GOES TO $90,908,890

Duplicate Increased $1,413,510 in 1929. Auditor's Abstract Shows

taxpayers respond differently than they have in the past.

$188,285 Delinquent.

Included in the treasurer's charges are many thousands of dollars of delinquent taxes for past years. The treasurer started the present collection with delinquencies totaling $188,285.81. Another increase was recorded in this column in 1929. When the books were balanced for 1929 the delinquencies for past years amounted to $177,004.01. The increase during 1929 was $11,281.80.

Delinquencies on real estate at present amount to $115,204.09 as compared with $97,704.52 for a year ago. The increase is $17,499.57.

Personal property delinquencies amount to $71,081.12 at present. This amount increased from $59,899.49 in 1929. The increase is $11,181.63.

Increase in the value of real estate in municipalities, resulting chiefly from the building program in Marion, and an increase in the value of farm produce are the two items contributing most to the increase in the total tax duplicate. Each of these items increased more than $200,000.

Increase in Municipalities.

The value of real estate in municipalities increased from $58,330,320 in 1928 to $58,889,000 in 1929. The increase is $558,680. Personal property outside municipalities increased from $13,583,940 in 1928 to $14,432,820 in 1929. The increase was $848,880.

Real estate outside municipalities showed an increase of $11,010 for the year. The increase was from $21,575,780 in 1928 to $21,586,790 in 1929. Personal property returned from municipalities showed an increase of $130,320 for the year. In 1928 this property was valued at $15,755,340 and in 1929 it was valued at $15,885,660.

The abstract of the 1929 duplicate shows that all real estate in the county is valued at $90,908,890 and all personal property is valued at $30,208,980, making the total $121,117,870. During the year all real estate increased in value by $725,810 and personal property showed a gain of $889,760.

Decision of Taxes.

Taxes collected this year will be divided as follows:

State, $40,000; county, $85,454.79; township, $77,051.71; municipalities, $40,235.79; and schools, $928,120.35. The school taxes increased from $874,262.74 in 1928.

All special assessments levied by the county, the townships and municipalities amount to $255,319.49, the abstract shows.

The abstract shows that there are 249,102 acres of land in the county, outside of the incorporated cities and villages.

Students at Aix Strike, Would Study Italian

AIX—Asserting that their thirst for knowledge has not been quenched, students of the University of Aix have refused to drink at this fountain of learning.

What the campus boys of Aix want is Italian and more of it. They are restricted to three hours of Mussolini's language a week while over at Grenoble the Italian course runs ten hours.

"It takes us four years to obtain a degree that we can earn in two," protested the students.

After giving three cheers for their professors and a few "rasberries" for the executive authorities the student body went on a strike.

INTERNAL DEBT OF SOVIETS IS DOUBLED

Total Amount of Money Borrowed from Citizens Reaches $1,275,000,000

MOSCOW, Jan. 15.—The internal debt of the Soviet Union has increased 100 per cent in the last year. It now totals 2,470,000,000 rubles (monthly $1,275,000,000) as against $600,000,000 last year. The annual interest and amortization bill on this debt is about half a million rubles, which ought to be charged against state-owned industry because most of the money was borrowed for capital construction.

Individuals hold 60 per cent of the loan bonds, and cooperative societies and corporations the remainder. Peasants, who comprise 85 per cent of the population, have subscribed only 3 rubles per capita, while the urban residents hold 10 times as much. The loans are placed by deducting one month's pay from workers and employees.

BOOTLEGGERS BRING RELIGION TO RUSSIA

Soviets Fail in Efforts To Block Worship, School Survey Shows

DENVER, Jan. 15.—Russia vodka flows freely here, but they have another kind of bootlegger there. He is a bootlegger of religion, according to Dr. Paul Monroe, director of the International Institute of Columbia university, a recent visitor here.

Dr. Monroe said he had visited Russia three times, once under the rule of the Czar and twice under the Soviet regime.

"From what I gather, the Soviets are not succeeding in their attempt to drive religion from the country," Dr. Monroe said. "Their consistent intention that there is no God, seems to create a doubt in the minds of the children that the statement is true."

Children Questioned.

He described an experiment conducted in Moscow among school children, who did not only worked conscientiously for the express purpose of proving their minds to discover if they believed in a supreme being.

The answers of approximately fifty per cent of them indicated that the children believe in God, said Dr. Monroe.

"Bootlegging of religion," he explained, "has developed—the parents instructing their children in the belief of their forebears. And the churches are still crowded, but mostly by older persons."

Dr. Monroe explained that the churches have not been outlawed, only religious instructions.

"Dr. Monroe believes the 'proletariat' is much better off under the Soviet regime than under the old government," Dr. Monroe said.

Go to Theater.

"The urban classes, many of whom are theaters to hospitals and various places, denied him under the Czar," he said. "The peasants enjoy better food mainly because the class of nobles to whom they sold their butter, eggs, and food had vanished."

"But the new rule in Russia is still an experiment. My belief is that if it collapses, it will be because of an economic collapse. There is little chance of this occurring from an upheaval from within, because the opponents of the Soviets have no money, no arms, no army."

"The Soviets, on the other hand, are organized. They have the arms and the brain leaders."

If it is the townsman lives in that he is a good deal to do with modern character.

We Lead the World.

The United States leads the world alike in road mileage, having 3,016,281 miles of the world's total of 7,895,629, or 38.7 per cent.,
and in hard-surfaced roads, having 1,671,165 miles of the latter and being the only country with hard-surfaced mileage in excess of 100,000. Considering mileage in proportion to area, however, the extent of our wide domain makes us trail along in thirteenth place with a mile of road to every square mile of area, Japan holding first place with three miles to each square mile.

Going no further, these figures given out by the department of commerce in Washington would indicate that the United States is outstripping the world in the matter of road building, but such is not the case. We have attained a big lead, it is true, but we are fast losing it, for while today we have almost thirty-nine per cent. of the world's road mileage, a year ago we had forty-six per cent.

During the past year, the survey of the department shows, there was a world increase of 1,223,618 miles, or 15.6 per cent.
The American increase was 152,662 miles;
the increase of Africa, 57,018; that of Asia, 595,547 and Europe made an increase of 474,402. Australia and Oceania suffered a decrease of 56,011 miles. Thus Europe constructed over three miles during the year to our one and Asia almost four to each mile built in America.

Standing second to us with our 3,016,281
miles, or 38.7 per cent. of the world's roadways is Russia with 776,712 miles, or 9.9
per cent., followed by Japan with the marvelous total, size considered, of 515,225 miles, or 7.4 per cent.; France, 405,928 miles, or 5.2 per cent.; Canada, 381,977 miles, or 4.9 per cent.; Australasia, 300,000 miles, or 3.8 per cent.; India, 253,506 miles, or 3.2 per cent.; Germany, 216,672 miles, or 2.8 per cent.; United Kingdom, 179,095 miles, or 2.3
per cent., and Poland, 139,531 miles, or 1.8 per cent.

Figures, however, are often misleading in that they do not tell all the story. They do not in this case, for they apply only to the miles of roadway constructed, not to the width of the roadways constructed or the style of roadways put down.

It would be surprising in the face of the immense sums being expended in this country on highways if we were being outstripped in our highway systems. We are not. Our great mileage shows that our country is fairly well outfitted by roadways. We are now engaged in improving them. Not only are we expending far more than any other land in hard-surfacing roads, but we are also widening and improving those we have.

There was a time when this country lagged fearfully behind the Old world, as represented by Europe, in our highways, but that time has passed. Since the use of the automobile became general in this country, we have built to meet its demands, with the result that today we have incomparably the finest highways in the world, as those familiar with the roadways of both the Old and New worlds, regardless of whether they be Americans or aliens well know.

Much of the world is engaged in making roads. We of the United States are engaged in making fine roads. We lead not only in mileage, but also in quality.

The Famine Horror in China.

The awfulness of the horror prevailing in the famine-stricken northern Chinese provinces of Shensi and Kansu are beyond description. In the former province three hundreds are dying daily, and in the latter, where eighty-five per cent. of the population is famine-stricken, cannibalism has become common.

Cable advices from Peking state that the China International Famine relief is confronted by the most hopeless situation it has ever faced and that it realizes its utter inability to meet existing conditions.

It is reliably estimated by newspaper men who have spent weeks in traveling through the Wei river district that in Shensi province, where the conditions are worse than they have ever been in the history of the famine relief forces, 2,000,000 of the 6,000,000 inhabitants have died within the past eight months from starvation and ex-posure, and that 2,000,000 more are doomed to die within the next few months.

Thousands weakened by long-endured hunger, were frozen to death in the recent cold spell, which came unusually early, when Shensi province, with the mercury at thirty-two degrees below zero, encountered the most severe cold in its history. The people, accustomed to a minimum temperature of afteen degrees above zero for more than forty years, were utterly unprepared for the unprecedented fall in temperature of forty-seven degrees.

A former Peking newspaper editor, who spent six weeks in the province, says the scenes he witnessed were the most disheartening he ever saw, despite famine horrors of the past witnessed by him in many years of travel in interior China. The famine sufferers, he said, were fighting hard for existence by eating mud, tree bark, pieces of leather—almost anything upon which they could lay their hands—but fighting a hopeless battle, many of them being so weakened mentally by their physical sufferings as to be unable to realize the awful-ness of their impending fate.

"I consulted the various local authorities,"
he told press representatives upon his arrival back in Peking, "but no remedy was suggested because of transportation difficulties and dangers from bandits, the bandits being the stronger parties who have taken to robbery for food.

"Even if the China Famine relief had plenty of grain to pour into the area, we could not reach it for months. The local authorities are helpless and in many instances are themselves on the verge of starvation."

Terrible as the conditions are in Shensi province, returning missionaries who have traveled over both provinces hold those in Kansu still more awful, as report has been made to cannibalism in the latter.

One missionary, born in Kansu and just back from nine months' relief work there,
says famine, disease and exposure in Kansu, Shensi and Shensi provinces have caused the most terrible situation ever experienced in China. Referring to the statement that 2,000,000 persons had died in Shensi, this missionary held the situation in Kansu was such that its horrors surpassed those of Shensi, and he predicted that northwest China will experience a plague of disease and famine the horrors of which will dwarf any in human memory.

Words are poor things at the best, and the same may be said of figures, but these reports and figures will give us on this side of the world some conception of the horror existing on the other, a horror which probably has never before been equalled in the history of mankind.

Lieutenant Michel de Trovat, of France, has cut down the flying time of an hour and thirty minutes for the 172 miles between Paris and Brussels to fifty-five minutes. An average speed of 3.13 miles a minute for 172 miles is moving right along.

Three hundred ministers are reported to have cheered Commissioner Doran when he upheld the killing of three run-runners on the Mud Lark. The upholding of the action of the coast guard and approval of its course is justified, but cheering the taking of human life is hardly what might be expected from members of the ministry.

Norman Thomas says that "we will get no better schools until we have better citizens, and until we have better schools we will get no better citizens." If Norman is right, the country has come to the end of a blind alley from which it can never hope to emerge.

"The United States can no longer stand aloof," says Virginia C. Childersberg, internationalist and pro-leaguer, "wrapping her oceans about her." That's just the trouble, Virginia. They aren't our oceans. Great Britain even refuses to let us sail over them
in time of war.

Commissioner Doran holds that the expenditure of more than $15,000,000 during the fiscal year 1931, would be useless. Maybe so, but if such is the case, why should there be criticism of congress to provide further funds in the interest of liquor law enforcement?

Governor Green, of Michigan, has asked for the complete records in the cases of that state's "liquor liars," who were convicted prior to the amendment of the law to exclude from its operation persons convicted of bootlegging and other "minor offenses." The governor can hardly do other than act in accord with what is expected of him. It would hardly be justice to keep the five in prison for life for acts which no longer draw that degree of punishment.

Word comes from Chicago that the schools
there will be closed February 1 unless some plan for financing them can be discovered, the school board being in debt $8,000,000 and unable to borrow more funds. With a deficit of $12,000,000 in the city treasury and one of $9,000,000 in the treasury of Cook county the situation up there looks at this distance like a striking example of incompetency in government.

KONJOLA ONLY

MEDICINE THAT HIT THE SPOT

Victim of Numerous Ills Found Health in New Medicine After All Else Tried Failed

MR. PAUL KULEWSKY

Results are what count, and Konjola can be counted on for results. Konjola triumphs because all of its 32 ingredients work together attacking disease at its very source. See what Konjola did for Mr. Paul Kulewsky, chief of the townhouse, Y. M. C. A., who says:

"Konjola is the only medicine that hit the spot in my case, and I certainly tried plenty of them. I was afflicted with indigestion, constipation and kidney trouble. Even the lightest foods nauseated me. I could not sleep well, and day by day I felt myself slipping. Konjola was recommended and I gave it a trial. What a surprise was ahead of me. All I took were four bottles, and in a month Konjola solved all my health problems. It is easy for me to understand why Konjola has won a million friends. It would have a billion if everyone knew about Konjola what I do."

Konjola is sold in Marion at Stump & Sons Pharmacy, and by all the leading druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.—Ad.

Can You Afford to Give Them Cheap Bread?

There IS a difference in bread

CAN you afford to take a chance on the food you buy... a chance on bread, your most important food?

A difference in the price of two loaves naturally suggests a difference in quality... in nourishment... in purity... in recipes... in the skill of the bakers... in the cleanliness of the bakeries... in the ideals of service.

Thousands prefer to spend a few pennies more a week to be sure there is no question about their bread. They serve Holsum, the home-like loaf, day after day. They know Holsum gives all they expect—the nearest approach to the finest home-baked bread. Hundreds are changing to Holsum. Thousands have changed to Holsum. Have you?

Long Skirts Emphasized
at Retailers & Promenade

Evening Gowns Must Be Very Long, Day and Sport Skirts Must Fall Six Inches Below Knee; Cotton To Be Popular in South

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—Alley is going to be a thing this spring if skirts are not very long; even her day-time skirt must fall from four to six inches below the knee.

That was the fashion edict of the (Garners) Retailers of America which 2,000 buyers from all parts of the United States were digesting today.

At the spring promenade of the retailers' association at the Hotel Astor last night 140 models, representing 43 leading fashion creators, all emphasized the long skirt. No short skirts were shown.

Here are a few rules the well-dressed women in 1930 will follow, at least the retailers said they should: Evening gowns must be very long. Day and sport skirts must fall about six inches below the knee.

Keep Free from FAT
in excess; it's easy now

Modern science has found that excess fat is largely due to an under-active gland. Starve (as you will) exercise as you will you are bound to fail unless you correct the cause of the trouble.

That gland largely controls nutrition. When it's weak, too much food goes to fat, too little to fuel and energy. So modern physicians, in treating obesity, supply the gland substance which is scant.

That's the method employed in Marmola prescription tablets, prepared by a famous medical laboratory. People have used them for 22 years—millions of boxes of them. Anybody, in any circle, can see what a change has come. Excess fat is disappearing fast. New youth and beauty, new health and vitality, are conspicuous everywhere.

If you are abnormal in your weight, a certain gland is abnormal. Try Marmola. Feed the factor lacking. Watch the pounds go, the new vitality return. You will be amazed and delighted. But the formula in each box of Marmola will tell you the reason. To people who know, there is no excuse today for obesity. Start to remedy that ill condition now.

Marmola prescription tablets are sold by all druggists at $1 a box. Any druggist who is out will gladly order for you.
